In Japan, the growing expectations and demands of the public with regard to the life insurance industry include that it can provide customers with diversified and comprehensive services that ensure quality of life as well as function to complement the social welfare program. This is mainly attributable to the fact that the rapidly declining birth rate and aging population have given rise to the importance of people's self-help and self-reliance efforts. On the other hand, the operating environment surrounding the life insurance industry is also changing at an accelerated pace with such factors as economic and financial globalization, cross-industry entry among financial service sectors and advances in information technology. In order for life insurers to satisfy their customers' expectations, against the backdrop of this business climate, a high level of expertise and a stable business foundation, to consistently provide optimum products and services, have become absolutely imperative. In light of this shared awareness, Meiji Life Insurance Company (Meiji Life) and The Yasuda Mutual Life Insurance Company (Yasuda Life) have agreed to consolidate their operations on January 1, 2004 subject to approval from regulatory authorities. The two companies will take decisive actions to combine and leverage their solid financial strength and strong customer base, efficiently reallocating the expanded management resources. The merged company will pursue a higher level of growth, profitability and financial soundness based on the newly established business models in which life insurance plays a core role.

OVERVIEW OF FISCAL 2002

Toward the birth of the planned Meiji Yasuda Life Insurance Company, Meiji Life strove during fiscal 2002 to strengthen marketing and service capabilities, enhance profitability, bolster investment competency and maintain a highly sound management base. The following are the major activities and achievements for the period under review. • Meiji Life developed riders that include industry-first benefit packages, introduced new products by blending the competitive features of insurance products of Meiji Life and Yasuda Life, and began supplying individual annuity products specifically designed for the bank distribution channel. Meiji Life has successfully changed its asset allocation to maintain a high level of financial soundness. Domestic equity exposures were reduced by ¥492.1 billion mainly through composing ETF (Exchange Traded Funds). This initiative, combined with the increased government and corporate bonds, contributed to form more solid portfolios. • Ordinary profits climbed a considerable 480.1%, to ¥129.9 billion. Base profit, an indicator of annual earnings from mainstay insurance operations, stood at ¥259.2 billion, a year-on-year rise of 0.2%. Actual net assets stood at ¥1.36 trillion (8.4% as a percent of total assets), as Meiji Life preserved its leading position in the industry. • Meiji Life maintained a competitively high solvency margin ratio, a measurement of claim paying ability, with a total of 532.0% at year-end. As of the end of May 2003, Meiji Life had a "BBB+" rating from Standard & Poor's, an "A" rating from AM Best and an "A+" from the Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd.

The new company will endeavor wholeheartedly to fulfill its designated mission as a life insurance company. In a continuation of its efforts in 2003, up until the merger on January 1, 2004, Meiji Life will work hard on strengthening its marketing and service capabilities, reinforcing its investment operations and financial soundness and refining its internal controls, to establish a business foundation that assures increase in the total amount of life insurance in force. On a similar note, Meiji Life will promote parallel operations with Yasuda Life across the organization to pave the path for the coming merger, by raising profitability and growth potential, and improving financial soundness. Through these efforts, both Meiji Life and Yasuda Life will strive towards a successful merger that will create a distinguished company that earns an unparalleled level of customers' trust.

I, together with directors, employees and field forces at Meiji life, wish to express our heartiest thanks to Mr. Kenjiro Hata for his invaluable efforts for Meiji Life over the years. Business Activities

Domestic Insurance and Related Services

Meiji Life aims to be the company most trusted by customers. Through the improvement and upgrading of products and services, and by providing highly detailed consulting services, Meiji Life properly responds to the needs of customers in every life stage and customers' changing needs.

A HIGH LEVEL OF EXPERTISE IN PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

Meiji Life constantly strives to develop the most advanced products and riders to meet sophisticated and diverse customer needs. As the result of ceaseless product development efforts, "Life Account L.A.," the first accounttype insurance product in Japan was launched in April 2000. Life Account L.A. is a highly adjustable, flexible and easily comprehensible product in which customers can make yearly reviews of premiums and coverage as the protection and cash value parts are clearly delineated. The number of new policies since the launch of the product amount to more than 1.8 million.

With Life Account L.A., customers are able to upgrade the coverage by adding the latest riders. In January 2001, the Company introduced a nursing care rider, and, in October 2001, a cancer rider that includes a diverse benefits package, which is an industry-first. Furthermore, in April 2002, another five riders with the most up-to-date coverage, including a hospitalization and a life-style related disease rider that covers day-visits to the hospital as well as home hospice care, were added to further enhance the value of Life Account L.A. In January 2003, Meiji Life developed a new comprehensive accidental injury rider with benefits related to burn injuries and loss of permanent tooth imported from the product development expertise of Yasuda Life and Meiji Life, respectively. In addition, Meiji Life refined its riders lineup with "medical account m.a.," the first account-type medical insurance in Japan that flexibly accommodates the coverage to the latest innovations in medical treatment.

In the general insurance field, Meiji General Insurance Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Meiji Life, handles a wide range of non life insurance products to meet diverse customer needs, including automobile, fire and accident insurance. Meiji General is also providing products under Risk Solution concept that help corporate clients managing various risks surrounding the Company's activities including Trade Credit Insurance and Directors and Officers Liability Insurance.

Meiji Life Group will continue to develop top quality insurance products in a wide range of fields, including life insurance, medical insurance and non-life insurance.

Maroving Customer Convenience

Meiji Life provides "face-to-face" consulting services cordially, while also focusing on improving its customer services.

The Company constantly seeks to strengthen its after-sales services to earn further customer trust by providing all policyholders of Life Account L.A. and medical account m.a. with a yearly policy statement that includes easy-tounderstand details of current coverage, an accumulated cash value and supportive information for annual review.

In October 2002, Meiji Life replaced a personal laptop computer for sales personnel with the up to the minute equipment that incorporates the latest information technology. The equipment is designed to properly work under high-speed, high-capacitance broadband environment and thus enables sales personnel to download and utilize a volume of video and audio contents that can be used for consulting service to customers. The introduction of such portable equipment also gives support to speedy response to customer enquiries outside of the office. Furthermore, Meiji Life and Yasuda Life jointly developed MAP (Mental And Physical health support), a new service package released on April 1, 2003, that provides services regarding health, medical, nursing and life-event, to the companies' policyholders in accordance with accumulated points depending on the amount of insurance coverage and the length that policy is in force.

NATIONWIDE EXTENSIVE LONG-TERM CARE SERVICES IN HOST COMMUNITY

Since the introduction of the public long-term care insurance system in April 2000, various long-term care related services have been brought about and been attracting more and more public concerns. Under such circumstances, Meiji Life offers high quality advice and the most suitable long-term care plans from specialized care managers through telephones, the Internet and 17 long-term care service centers located in major cities nationwide.

In March 2002, the Company established Wellness Care Network Co., Ltd., jointly with NTT DATA CORPORATION, NIPPONKOA Insurance Company, Limited, Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., Ltd. and DC CARD CO., LTD. This joint company provides rapid, high-quality services in the long-term care, health and medical related fields through the networking and abundant knowledge these five companies possess in their relevant areas.

OTC SALE AT FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

In October 2002, an individual annuity was added to products sold over the counter of such financial institutions as banks. Meiji Life introduced two types of new products exclusively designed for this distribution channel. In line with growing demand for aggressive asset management, the Company launched a variable annuity product in which cash value and future annuity benefit change depending on performance of investment funds selected by the customer. To meet needs for safe and secure asset management, the Company commenced sales of an annuity certain product, which pays the pension amount promised at the time of contract. As of the end of March 2003, the number of financial institutions whom Meiji Life contracted was 158 at year-end. Meiji Life has made progress in providing products and expanding marketing network in responding to the bank distribution channel.

Risk Management

At Meiji Life, each level of the organization, from top management to departments engaged in the execution of operations, attaches importance to risk management and enhances management systems and guidelines for each category of risk. The Company adopts a top-down approach to risk management and is looking into major risk management policies at the Board of Directors meeting, Executive Committee meeting, and various committees and subcommittees related to risk management. The necessary directives are made based on regular monitoring of risk.

 With Other Securities, valuation differences are computed using the capital adjustment method.

From the current fiscal year, Other Securities for which market quotations are available are stated at fair value based on the average market price during March rather than the market price at business yearend.
