

Procurement of Additional Foundation Funds

Meiji Yasuda Life Insurance Company (President: Akio Negishi, hereinafter, “the Company”) hereby announces that the Company raised an additional foundation funds amounting to ¥50 billion on August 2, 2019. This procurement serves to enhance equity and further reinforce the Company’s operating base. The Company’s foundation funds, including the accumulated redeemed foundation funds, have reached ¥980 billion.

The foundation funds can be characterized as funds equivalent to the capital of a stock company and represent the financial basis for a mutual company. In preparation for redemption (repayment) after the procurement of funds, the Company systematically accumulates reserves for redemption of foundation funds. These reserves for redemption of foundation funds are transferred to the accumulated redeemed foundation funds at the time of redemption, whereby the Company’s financial basis is protected as internal reserves reflecting sound management.

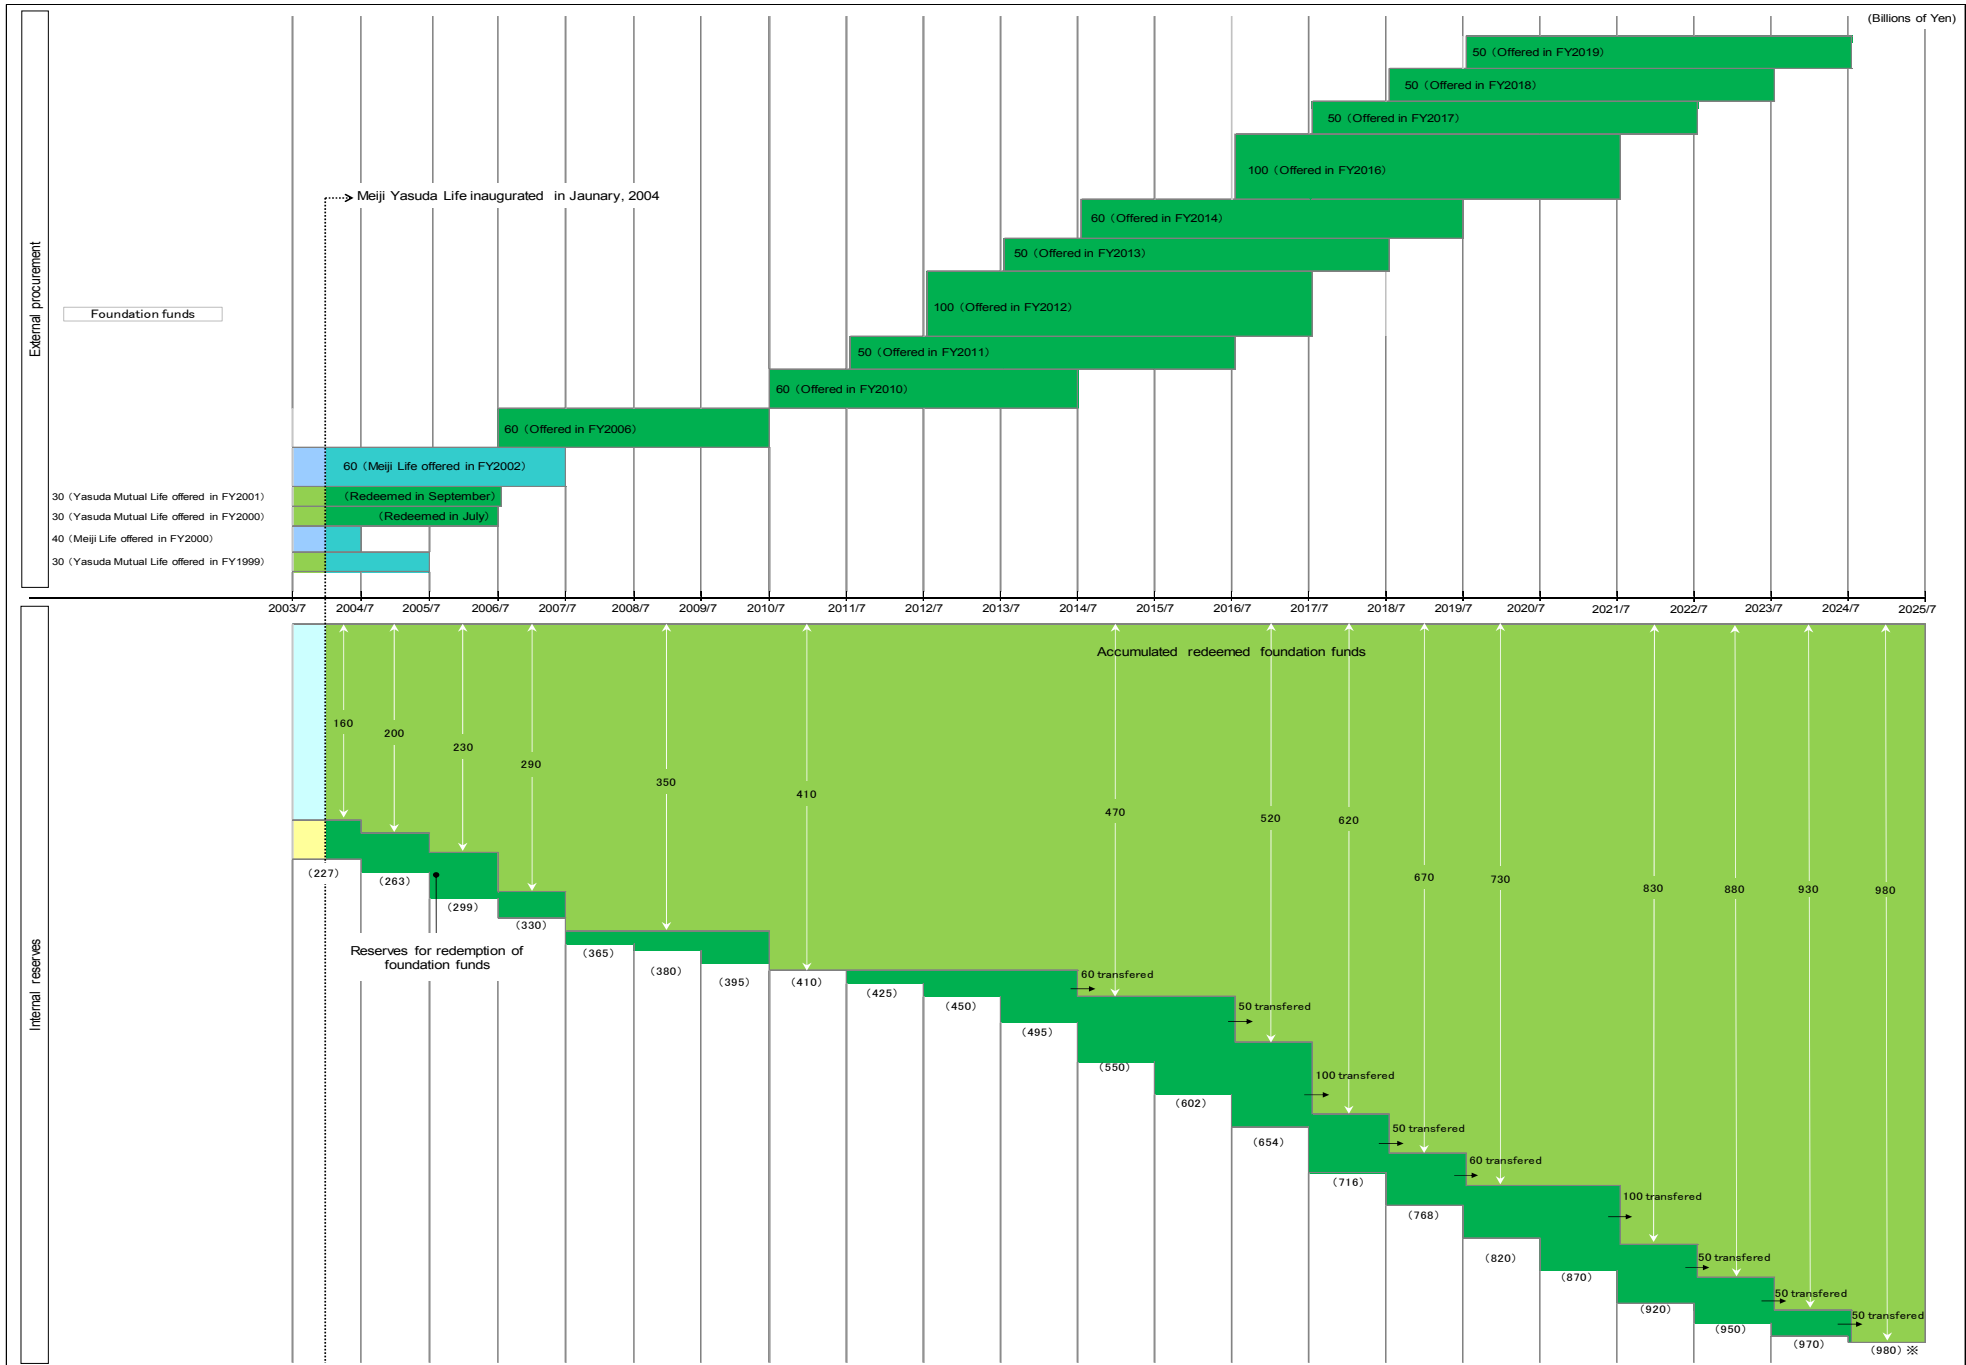

To reliably sustain payments to policyholders pursuant to insurance contracts, prepare for potential risks that can affect insurance companies and build a robust operating base, the Company will continue efforts to enhance equity by raising additional foundation funds and accumulating internal reserves.
